Albert Seah PhD MBA

PROFILE

He is a sessional instructor in the MIS Department at Beedie School of Business, and a mentor-in-residence with SFU's Coast Capital Savings Venture Connection. Albert is also, the course coordinator for the Pre-masters and Associate of Arts Degree programs and a senior instructor at Fraser International College.

At Beedie School of Business, Albert is an instructor for BUS237 Introduction to Business Technology Management. While at Fraser International College, he is an instructor for other business administration courses that has included BUS200 Business Fundamentals and BUS216 Essentials of Business Communications.

He has been involved in post-secondary education for over twenty years in various roles and positions. His interest and involvement in tertiary education started back in his college days. Therefore, from then until this present time, he has achieved a substantial among of teaching hours and experience.

Other than academia, Albert is also an experienced business consultant. Some of his previous working experiences were, an intern accountant with an oil and gas company in Oklahoma, USA, a senior banker in the corporate division of a large banking group in Malaysia, and a senior executive with an international event management company based out of Singapore.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Sessional Instructor,
Beedie School of Business,
Simon Fraser University,
Burnaby, Canada Sept 2017 to present

Course instructor for BUS237 Introduction to Business Technology Management. Deliver lectures, plan, prepare and provide course content, and manages a group of teaching assistants. Prepare and grade assignments, midterms, and final exams. Compile midterm and final reports for the department's course coordinator.

Provide additional learning support for students via office hour advising and mentoring. Prepare in-class quizzes, and take home assignments in the form of MyMISLab lessons and lab tests. Coordinate weekly lessons for the tutorial sessions with the teaching assistants.

Prepare, coordinate, plan, provide, and schedule course content, lectures, tutorials, quizzes, exams and final report for the course. Prepare and submit end-of-term report.

Course Coordinator, Senior Lecturer, Program Director
Fraser International College,
at Simon Fraser University,
Burnaby, Canada April 2012 to present

Presently, he is the course coordinator for the Pre-masters and Associate of Arts Degree Programs. Oversees the needs of the students, instructors and the course curriculums of these programs. Liaise with the internal and external stakeholders, regulators, publishers, and industry experts to learn, improve, and seek accreditation for the courses offered within the programs.

Albert is also a course instructor for COMM507 Intercultural Communications, COLW503 Collaborative Working Environments, COM002 Introduction to Computers and Their Applications, and ECON100 Economics with Business Focus. Has provided course instructions for BUAN511 Business Quantitative Analysis, CAPS510 Case Competition Capstone, BUS237 Introduction to Computer Information Systems for Business, BUS200 Introduction to Canadian Business Fundamentals, and BUS216 Introduction to Essentials of Business Communications since joining FIC in 2012.

On top of his administrative and teaching duties, Albert provides support through many volunteer roles. He is a leading faculty advisor supporting students with career and academic advises. Albert also oversees, manages and provides leadership to the student organizing committee of the tri-annual FIC Universal Case Competition. He has initiated various student support workshops and seminars for FIC and SFU in the Burnaby campus.

Currently, Albert has initiated the TEDx Fraser International College event, which is anticipated to take place in the summer semester.

Coordinate, plan, provide and schedule course content, lectures, tutorials, midterm, final exams and end-of-term reports. Run practical sessions for undergraduate students with learning tools using MyITLab, MyEconLab, MyManagementLab, and MyMathLab, the online learning platforms provided by Pearson Publications.

Coordinate, plan, prepare, provide and schedule course content, lectures, tutorials, quizzes, exam, midterm and final reports for the courses he teaches.

Sessional Instructor, Business Mentor
Beedie School of Business,
Simon Fraser University,
Burnaby, Canada Dec 2011 to Dec 2013

Plan and provide course content, program structure, lectures, and create business networking opportunities for BUS494 New Business Development.

Plan and schedule off campus seminars and workshops for students to participate. Facilitate group discussions on key topics or issues learned from the seminars and workshops. Invite guest speakers to the classroom to add value to the learning outcome.

Coordinate, plan, provide and schedule course content, lectures, tutorials, quizzes, exams and final report for the course.

Course Planning Associate, Business Consultant
Mechatronic Systems Engineering,
School of Engineering Science,
Simon Fraser University,
Surrey, Canada Dec 2011 to Aug 2013

Provide course content, program structure, guidance, leadership and mentorship to mechatronics systems engineering students in business entrepreneurship program. Develop and plan entrepreneurship projects with engineering students in the Capstone project. Deliver lectures in ENSC311 – Business of Engineering I, ENSC312 – Business of Engineering II, and BUS494 – New Business Development. Conduct entrepreneur workshops and promote the entrepreneurship@sfu (esfu) business incubator program. Provide leadership, business coaching and mentorship support to high-tech student venture teams involved in the esfu program.

Plan, provide and schedule course content, lectures, tutorials, quizzes, exams and final report for these courses.

EDUCATION

Doctor of Philosophy in Business Administration
Tarlac State University, Tarlac City, Republic of the Philippines

Master of Business Administration (Finance)
University Of Central Oklahoma, Edmond, Oklahoma, USA

Bachelor of Science (Accounting) with Honors
University of Central Oklahoma, Edmond, Oklahoma, USA

Higher Certificate in Aircraft Engineering (Avionics Instrumentation)
RMAF College, Royal Malaysian Air Force

Certificate in Aircraft Engineering (Avionics Instrumentation)
RMAF College, Royal Malaysian Air Force

Certified Occupational Safety and Health Officer
National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health, Bangi, Malaysia

Certified Professional Trainer
International Professional Managers' Association, UK

LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY

Spoken – English, Malay, Indonesian, Cantonese, Taiwanese
Written – English and Malay